Impact Commitment

At 180 Degrees Consulting Ghent, we are empowering socially conscious organizations to achieve greater impact through our student-led consulting services. Our mission is to drive positive change by providing exceptional consulting services to non-profit organizations and start-ups committed to addressing social and environmental challenges. We are driven by the belief that by leveraging the skills, knowledge, and ambition of our student consultants, we can make a meaningful impact in both local and global communities.

Our projects target impact across different industries and themes. We have adopted the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals as an overarching guide to test the credibility, relevance and scale of impact of our projects. In this report, we note the sustainable development goals that are supported through our efforts.

Whilst we have worked on projects that have touched all seventeen of these - the four themes below are what our branch has had the most experience with.

Also in '22-'23, a considerable portion of our projects focused on our core themes, drawing upon our experience and expertise.

OUR THEMES

'22-'23 PROJECTS ACROSS OUR THEMES

Project Highlights

In '22-'23, we successfully completed 12 projects for non-profit organizations and start-ups committed to addressing social and environmental challenges.

We foster impactful solutions through collaboration. Each project is assigned to a team of around six student consultants from diverse backgrounds, led by an experienced team leader. This inclusive approach empowers innovative ideas and comprehensive problem-solving, delivering positive impact for our clients and communities.

Our consulting and legal directors play a crucial role throughout the consulting process, skillfully selecting projects that align with our mission and our clients' specific needs. Their expertise and strategic guidance are instrumental in tailoring each engagement to achieve impactful and meaningful outcomes.
